Job Posting: Environmental Specialist

North River Consulting is accepting applications for an environmental specialist. Duties for this position will primarily involve environmental monitoring, but will also include a range of other work. Other work may include emergency environmental response, prescribing and installing sediment and erosion control measures, installation of bioengineering measures, conducting fish and amphibian salvages, wildlife control, bird nest surveys and report writing. Preferred candidate attributes are environmental post-secondary education, electrofishing certification, environmental monitoring training and experience, registration with the College of Applied Biology, and construction and heavy equipment knowledge and experience. Must be willing to work out of town in remote areas in northern BC and be able to work independently with minimal supervision. Must be able and willing to conduct manual physical labour throughout the course of work duties. Must be able and willing to work a flexible and changing schedule and long work hours at times.

E-mail your application to Jason Hooft, North River Consulting Owner/Manager at Jason@northriverconsulting.net. Wages commensurate with credentials and experience.
